How much does base power make per kWh?

With Texas wholesale electricity prices typically averaging 3-5 cents per kWh, Base Power likely makes a spread of approximately 4-6 cents per kWh on electricity sales. For a typical Texas household consuming 12,000 kWh annually, this generates ~$600 in annual revenue from the electricity spread alone.

Is base power a good company?

Base Power is an exciting company and they've got momentum on their side. They are well positioned in terms of capital and talent as well and are focused on the right market in Texas. What's going to be interesting is their cost of customer acquisition.

What will base power do with battery storage?

Base Power is going to be aggregating all the residential battery storage systems and bidding them into ERCOT which pays for the value they get from battery storage. This could include discharging electricity (and thereby increasing electricity supply) during periods of peak demand.

How does base make money?

Base operates differently from traditional power companies. Instead of profiting directly from customers, Base earns revenue by using grid-balancing software paired with outage prediction technology. This approach optimizes the Base battery for both grid stability and outage protection.

Why should you choose base power?

Base offers fair, fixed rates and reliable backup power. Since revenue comes from the grid, not customers, Base avoids hidden fees and surprise rate hikes. Your agreement also legally guarantees your rates stay below the market average. What is Base Power?
